

John Wells Productions

WEEKLY JOURNAL

October 18, 2019

News

Macabre Video of Fake Trump Shooting Media and Critics Is Shown at His Resort (New York Times)

A Mom Who Falsely Claimed Her White Son Was Black And Latino To Get Into College Is Going To Prison (Buzzfeed)

Film

'Bombshell' Trailer Shows Women of Fox News Preparing For a Fight (CNN)

The World's Best Animation Lands in L.A. at the 'Animation Is Film' Festival (LA Times)

'The Obituary Of Tunde Johnson' To Open 26th Annual Austin Film Festival (Deadline)

Television

'Ozark' Star Julia Garner Signs First-Look Deal With MRC Television (Variety)

Sony Pictures Television, Revolution Studios Sign Distribution Deal (Hollywood Reporter)

Why Public Television Isn't The Right Model For Social Networks (Forbes)

Theater

Marisa Tomei Gives Her All to 'The Rose Tattoo' (Entertainment Weekly)

Examining a Bodacious 'Life In Boobs' (LA Weekly)

After 35 Years at Playwrights Horizons, Tim Sanford is Ready to Seek New Ones (New York Times)

Follow Focus: Mary Beth Barone

28-Year-Old Mary Beth Barone Isn't Afraid of Taking Risks (Forbes)

A Woman Handed Out Pamphlets To Her Family To Answer All Their Pestering Questions Ahead Of A Date (Buzzfeed)